

Indus Net Technologies Joins International Association of Outsourcing Professional's (IAOP)

London, 29 October: Indus Net Technologies announced that they are now a member of the prestigious International Association of Outsourcing Professional's (IAOP).

As a reflection of its leading position as a strategic IT outsourcing partner of choice for global enterprises and spending more than two decades in the ecosystem, it was a straightforward decision to collaborate with IAOP.

For well over a decade, IAOP has been the association that professionals working in these strategic relationships, including outsourcing and Global Business Services, count on to keep them informed, educated and above all, connected to the resources and people they need to succeed.

"In our 21+ years of business, we have gained a lot of valuable experience from working with organisations of all sizes, from SMEs to Fortune 500s," said Abhishek Rungta, CEO of Indus Net Technologies. He added "There is a common notion that India as a country where Outsourcing contributes majorly to the GDP, has only been a taker of business without giving back. It is not true. I believe, it is time to give back to the world, our deep knowledge and insights on technology, digital driving and create an ecosystem of #DigitalSuccess"

Indus Net joins the UK & Ireland and Digital Enterprise chapters to talk about the best practices of outsourcing to improve their outsourcing success rate and increase their return and investment from outsourcing. Other members of IAOP include Intel, Infosys, Avasant, KPMG, Accenture, HCL, Cognizant, and many more world leaders.

As a part of the collaboration, Indus Net Technologies will also participate at the IAOP – OWS19, one of the biggest events on outsourcing taking place on 17-20 February 2019 at Orlando, Florida.

"As designed, IAOP brought together a diverse group of industry thought leaders to share knowledge and collaborate on today's emerging technologies, the exponential pace of change and urgency to embrace it. I always leave OWS knowing significantly more than I did when I arrived" said Michael Nacarato, COP, Transamerica about last year's event.

IAOP is the association that brings together customers, providers, and advisors in a collaborative, knowledge-based environment that promotes professional and organizational development, recognition, certification, and excellence to improve business service models and outcomes.

Organizations have become increasingly technology-driven and interdependent through an array of ever-changing collaborative business models. Most generally referred to as 'outsourcing', these approaches include multi-sourcing, global business services, offshoring, nearshoring, robotic process automation (RPA), cloud-sourcing and many other variants. Both opportunities and challenges have emerged from these changes: new technologies like SMAC have moved front and center; partners have become sources of not just efficiency, but innovation; security and privacy have taken on new urgency; and even the most basic management principles have begun to give way to new approaches led by a new generation of business leaders.
